Former Yugoslav Leader Convicted

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A three-judge tribunal convicted former Vice President Milovan Djilas at a secret trial Monday of disclosing state secrets. For that and parole violation, it sentenced him to eight years and eight months in prison.

Presiding Judge Miodrag Stevovic announced five years was for the latest offense and the rest to cover the unexpired part of a nine-year term from which Djilas, 51, an ex-crown of President Tito, was paroled last year.

Writings involving criticism of communism were involved in each case. The presiding judge said Djilas disclosed confidential information and added to it his own impressions "to give reactionary circles a tool to pour oil to the fire of the cold war."

Philippine Head Delays U.S. Visit

NILA (AP)—A snarl in U.S.-Philippine relations led President Diosdado Macapagal to put off indefinitely a 12-day state visit to the United States next month.

The issue was rejection by the U.S. House of Representatives last Wednesday of a bill to appropriate $73 million for payment of claims lodged by 86,000 Filipinos for damages from U.S. operations in these islands in World War II.

Announcing his decision Monday in a radio-television broadcast, Macapagal said: "It is with deep regret that I am constrained to postpone the date of the visit until such time as the circumstances would be acceptable to our people."

"The feeling of resentment among our people and the attitude of the Congress of the United States was predicated," he said.

Early Geneva Action Urged

GENEVA (AP)—The United States urged the 17-nation disarmament conference Monday to take early action to put outer space out of bounds as a nuclear battleground.

U.S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle told the delegates this could be achieved either in a general disarmament treaty or by separate treaty is completed. Barring mass destruction weapons from space is one of the most challenging opportunities of the conference, he added.

"This conference could lead to measures designed to insure that outer space can become an impetus to man's peaceful progress and not a battleground in the future," he declared.

OAS Terrorists On New Rampage

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Algerian commandos suddenly dropped their self-restraint under goading of Secret Army Organization terrorism Monday and raced through Algiers in the first major anti-European rampage since the March 18 cease-fire.

French authorities said Moslem machine-guns firing from speeding cars killed 18 or more persons and wounded at least 54, nearly all of them Europeans.

Secret army terrorists, fighting to keep Algeria French, were blamed for 10 other deaths, including three Moslem women.

A curfew was imposed throughout the city in late afternoon. By nightfall the streets were empty, except for long convoys of French army vehicles and heavily guarded barricades thrown across major avenues.

Charge Mother Slew Two Girls

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP)—The mother of two young girls who died last week under what was described as strange circumstances, was charged Monday with first-degree murder and committed to a state hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Burton Gordon, 36, of Brighton, a Rochester suburb, was arraigned on the charge in the death of Patricia Gordon, 8, before State Supreme Court Justice Charles B. Brasser.

The mother and Patricia were found last Thursday night in the family automobile, parked in a private garage near Canandaigua Lake. The child died a short time later in Thompson Memorial Hospital, but no cause was listed in issuing a death certificate.

Ike Calls For Love Of Country

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said Monday night a heart-felt love of country and respect for its history should be the guideposts for the United States in the future.

In an address prepared for an observance of the Union League's centennial, Eisenhower asserted: "Should we, as a people, ever weaken in our conscious love of country, then indeed will our nation be in grave danger."

Senate Again Rejects Bid To End Voter Bill Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate rejected again Monday a motion to cut off debate on the Kennedy administration's voter literacy test bill.

But backers of the civil rights measure refused to give up.

They blocked for the time being a move to drop the fight and go on to other matters.

Despite that action, there appeared little doubt that the Senate's big civil rights battle of 1962 was about over.

Witness Says Fine's Bills Were Sent To Coal Firm

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A $277 power mower ordered by former Gov. John S. Fine was billed to a Nanticoke coal company at the request of Fine's farm, a government witness testified Monday.

Mrs. Grace M. Smith, manager of Gravely Tractors, Stuartstown, N. J., said she confirmed the billing change request in a letter to Fine Nov. 21, 1955.

Her husband, Robert, a part-time salesman for Gravely, followed her to the witness stand and testified that the actual request to bill the equipment to the Newport Excavating Co., was made by Donald P. Morgan of Malvern, Pa.

Fine and Morgan, the governor's former brother-in-law, are charged with evading $45,554 of Fine's income taxes for 1955, 1956 and 1957.

Other witnesses called during the fourth day of the trial testified that the Newport firm paid for a $2,682 portable irrigation system and for most of a $2,500 recreational dam and pool on Fine's 80-acre dairy farm at Loyallville, Luzerne County.

The government charges that Newport paid $70,149 for services and improvements at Fine's farms in the three years involved and that Fine should have declared the money as taxable income.

The 69-year-old former Republican chief executive at one time held a one-third interest in Newport and was its general counsel.

Morgan, 50, brother of Fine's deceased first wife, is charged with aiding and abetting the filing of allegedly false tax returns.

TEARFUL PROSPECT—Lee Ying, 19, breaks down and cries after learning from British authorities in Hong Kong that she is to be included among refugees scheduled to be returned to Red China. Thousands of hungry refugees were rounded up by Hong Kong police and British troops for return to the Communist-controlled mainland.

U.S. Deputy Atty. Gen. John Burke protested to Judge Frederick V. Folmer that the defense was making "improper interruptions." Folmer soothed tempers by declaring with a smile the approaches to the case made by each side equal merit.

Mrs. Smith said that Fine and Morgan ordered a tractor and a number of accessories, including a rotary mower, a cultivator and a power saw after a demonstration at the farm Nov. 6, 1955. Her letter of thanks to Fine for the order, introduced into evidence, read in part:

"Our salesman, Mr. Robert S. Smith, has informed me that you would like the bill charged on his order to the Newport Excavating Co., Nanticoke. I have taken care of this per your request."

Requested In Letter

Mrs. Smith said the demonstration was requested by Morgan in a letter to the firm dated Oct. 18, 1955.

Earlier, Jay E. Kilpatrick, Mt. Holly, N. J., manager of the Luzerne County Cooperative Association from 1951 to 1957, testified that he sold a portable irrigation system to the Fine farm for $2,682.

He said it was paid by Newport but that he directed its installation on the lawn at the rear of Fine's home during the summer of 1956.

Would-Be Sukarno Assassin Identified As Devout Moslem

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The man who failed in the latest attempt to kill President Sukarno was identified by a Sukarno aide Monday as a young member of the fanatic Darul Islam sect that wants to make this country of 90 million officially a Moslem nation. More than 90 per cent of the Indonesian people are Moslems.

Sukarno's aide de camp, Col. Sabur, made the identification. But the name of the captured assassin was not given.

The assassination attempt—the fifth against Sukarno in recent years—occurred during a Moslem prayer meeting on the lawn of Sukarno's palace.

As a group of men and women knelt in prayer, a young man stood up and fired pistol shots at the 61-year-old President. The shots missed Sukarno but hit five others near him.

The wounded were three presidential guards; Dr. Zaimul Arifin, speaker of Parliament; and Idham Chalid, a former deputy premier. All were reported only slightly hurt.

The shoot touched off screams and panic but police moved quickly and seized the assassin. Eight other persons were arrested later.

They were also identified as members of Darul Islam, followers of the sect's leader Kartosuwirjo, who remains at large despite government efforts to crush the terrorist movement.

Calam was restored within a few minutes and the prayer meeting continued. When the meeting

Forecast From Harrisburg:

Weather Warm, Voters Cool For Primary

HARRISBURG (AP)—The forecast for Pennsylvania's Republican and Democratic primary elections Tuesday is warm weather and cool voter interest.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said temperatures will range in the 70s in the north and in the 80s in the south, with plenty of sun and the possibility of scattered thundershowers late in the day.

Political prognosticators see a vote turnout in the 30 to 40 per cent of registration range, capping a low pressure campaign.

The Commonwealth's 9,157 polling places open at 8 a.m. and close at 9 p.m. (EDT).

Democrats have 2,808,703 registered voters; Republicans 2,647,708.

Only two statewide contests will be featured. They are for the Democratic and Republican gubernatorial nominations. Also to be nominated are the respective party candidates for 27 congressional seats; 210 house seats, and 25 state senate seats.

The hardest campaign has been waged by J. Collins McSparran, 48-year-old master of the Pennsylvania State Grange. He is seeking the Republican nomination for governor.

But he is opposing U.S. Rep. William W. Scranton, 44, GOP organization-backed candidate.

In the Democratic primary Richardson Dilworth, 63, former mayor of Philadelphia and unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor in 1950, has only token opposition.

Harvey F. Johnston, McKees Rocks businessman, and Charles J. Schmitt, Girard, Erie County, are both seeking to upset the organization-backed Dilworth. Both have done virtually no statewide campaigning.

The Scranton-McSparran contest is expected to be a test of the relative strength of sentiment in two wings of the GOP—the conservative and the so-called middle-of-the-road elements.

McSparran, who counts most of his strength among the state's rural people, considers himself a conservative. He has termed Scranton a "carbon-copy" of a Democrat and not a "true Republican."

Scranton, campaigning from a base of strength in the GOP organization, has chosen to ignore McSparran. On at least one issue, however, school district reor-

E. Asia Crisis Deepens; JFK Alerts Congressional Leaders

President Calls Session Early Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Monday night called a special meeting of Congressional leaders of both parties for Tuesday morning at the White House, reportedly to discuss the tense situation in Southeast Asia.

Assistant press secretary Andrew Hatcher announced only that Kennedy "has called a bi-partisan leadership meeting for 9:15 (EDT) Tuesday morning."

While no reason for the gathering was given, Kennedy undoubtedly was prompted to summon the top Democrats and Republicans in Congress to go over U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Word of the White House action came a few hours after it was disclosed that the government of Thailand had agreed to allow reinforcement of U.S. troops on its soil to check any Red aggression across the Laotian border.

Troop Movement

Kennedy has ordered land, sea and air force to waters near the battle area of Laos and South Viet Nam. U.S. troops reportedly will land in Thailand on a standby basis, perhaps starting Tuesday.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Senate and House leaders of both parties and ranking members of the Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees have been asked to attend the White House conference.

Arrangements for the meeting were made late Monday as Kennedy considered next steps in the Laotian crisis.

Originally, the White House had announced Kennedy would hold his usual Tuesday breakfast meeting with Democratic congressional leaders. That session was put off until Wednesday to make way for the bi-partisan conference.

Kennedy last met with a bi-partisan delegation from the capital in advance of the present congressional session.

His latest White House conference with such a group in urgent circumstances occurred last year in connection with Russia's resumption of nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

LAOTIAN PRINCE RELAXES — Prince Souvanna Phouma, leader of the neutralist faction in Laos, relaxes at his Paris residence. He has been urged by the royal government in Vientiane to return to his homeland to resume peace talks. Previous attempts to form a national unity government collapsed following a conflict over control of the posts of defense and interior ministries in a proposed coalition government.

High Court Upholds Labor Union Leaders' Convictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court upheld criminal convictions Monday of two widely known labor union figures, ex-Teamsters Union President Dave Beck and Carpenter's Union President Maurice A. Hutzschon.

Appeals by both hinged on the 1957-58 hearings by the Senate subcommittee investigating labor racketeering and their repeated refusal to answer questions.

Both probably will ask for new Supreme Court hearings but Monday's decision could finally mean imprisonment for them after years of legal battling. The tribunal seldom grants rehearings.

Beck had appealed a 15-year sentence for embezzlement of Teamsters funds on grounds that "a malstrom of publicity savagely hostile" to him as a result of the Senate hearing made a fair trial impossible. He said the publicity also had inflamed the grand jury that indicted him.

Hutzschon had asked the court to overturn his contempt-of-Congress conviction for which he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and a $500 fine. He had refused to answer 18 questions the subcommittee asked him on grounds that they might aid in prosecution of an Indiana bribery charge against him.

'Deliberately Fostering Trend' Hearing Chairman Slaps At TV Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—A senator claimed Monday that objectionable stress on sex and violence seems to be increasing on television programs and accused three networks of deliberately fostering the trend.

This brought categorical denials from the heads of all three major radio-television networks that there is any calculated effort to boost viewer ratings by emphasis on blatant sex and raw violence.

This clash of views came at a hearing of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Investigating subcommittee which is trying to determine what part, if any, television plays in leading youth into crime and immorality.

Chairman Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., in the midst of a sharp exchange with CBS President Frank Stanton over an episode in "Route 66," told the network chief: "You know this didn't slip up on you overnight. You asked time to clean up the industry last year but it looks to me like it's just getting worse."

Dodd referred to testimony last week that James T. Aubrey Jr., president of the CBS-TV network, had called for programs "jazzed up" with more sex and violence and had recommended, specifically, that "Route 66" feature "broads, bosoms and fun."

To this, Stanton said: "It never happened."

Aubrey also has denied that he gave any such instructions to his subordinates.

Robert E. Kintner, president of NBC and Leonard H. Goldenson, president of ABC joined in denying studied stress on sex and violence.

"There is absolutely no truth in any statement that I have directed the inclusion of any improper elements of sex and violence in any NBC programs," Kintner said.

Goldenson vigorously defended the ABC program "The Untouchables" from Dodd's sharp criticism, saying: "The Untouchables" tries to dramatize a very tough period. The writers have to dramatize it in keeping with the people."

Dodd spoke of a "Route 66" show in which a character was beaten with a chain and asked Stanton, "Do you think that kind of thing ought to be viewed by youngsters?"

"No, sir," Stanton replied, but added he had not seen the program and suggested the chain episode might have been lifted out of context.

"You can get a wrong impression of things taken out of context," he said. "Don't you think the final test is what the public saw?"

"We saw it," was Dodd's stern reply.

Both Stanton and Kintner acknowledged that perhaps television had gone in too heavily for Western adventure and mystery programs.

Stanton said his network is cutting down such programs—which tend to be the ones most heavily loaded with sex and violence.

Kintner told the subcommittee his network is prepared to help finance a survey to determine just what effect television programs do have, especially on children.

Presence Of Forces, Fleet Bolsters Hope

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—With U.S. peace efforts apparently making little headway, Laotian government sources said Monday they are elated by prospects American Marines will enter near-by Thailand.

The government obviously hoped the presence of U.S. forces in Thailand and units of the powerful U.S. 7th Fleet offshore would discourage further adventures by the pro-Communist rebels, who have swept across northwest Laos.

Neutral diplomats, expressed fears any U.S. move into Thailand might give Red China the pretext to move en masse into Laos. One source called it "brinkmanship action."

Other diplomats in touch with pro-Communist headquarters at Khang Khay in central Laos said the Pathet Lao rebel leaders there warned that talks on a coalition government should begin at once.

Time Favors Reds

Otherwise, the diplomatic sources said, the pro-Communists feel time runs in their favor. Holding control over about two-thirds of this nation of jungles and mountains, they are ready to begin rolling again.

But informed sources said no progress has been made in contacts now under way under U.S. auspices between Premier Prince Boun Oum and neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, who would head a coalition government.

In fact, Boun Oum flew off to Formosa seeking understanding and support from the Chinese Nationalists in his feud with Souvanna Phouma on the makeup of a coalition government. There he declared his government will continue to fight for the independence of the country.

Boun Oum has been in contact with Souvanna Phouma, now visiting in Paris, through the U.S. Embassy there. The pro-Communists of Pathet Lao leader Prince Souphanouvong want Souvanna Phouma as premier. He is a half-brother of Souphanouvong and the two share headquarters at Khang Khay.

Will Return To Laos

Souvanna Phouma said he plans to return to his headquarters in Laos this week and will try to arrange a meeting with a government delegation.

Informed sources said Souvanna insists the government send a delegation to his headquarters at Khang Khay to work out with his side an acceptable formula.

The sources added that the royal government wants Souvanna to return home quickly to take part personally in such talks. The point at issue in any of these future discussions would be the controversial two key posts of interior and defense, which Souvanna wants to keep despite government opposition.

Apparently convinced that only Souvanna Phouma can keep the peace in Laos, the United States has put pressure on the royal government to yield the posts by holding up $3 million monthly in economic aid.

Government officials expressed the opinion that the pro-Communists may have staged last week's military operations in the northwest as a show of strength to solidify their position in any future coalition negotiations.

A Defense Ministry communique reported no major fighting had taken place since Sunday in northwestern Nam Tha province, aside from scattered government guerrilla activities behind the pro-Communist lines.

The communique again claimed the pro-Communists are planning Vientiane, the provincial capital. U.S. military sources, however, said such an offensive is a remote possibility.

PRINTING Corporation of America reported yesterday sales of $10,833,000 for the first quarter ended March 31, 1962. Profits after taxes were $280,000.

Net profit equalled 19 cents a common share on 1,490,000 shares outstanding. There are no comparative figures available for the year-before period.

The company, one of the nation's largest printers of trade and business periodicals, was formed in early April by combination of three printing companies: Hughes Corporation and its affiliates; Publishers Printing — Rogers Kellogg Corp.; and Livermore and Knight Company and its two subsidiaries.

PCA became a publicly held corporation on April 13, 1962, through sale of stock by an underwriting group headed by Goldman, Sachs & Co.

Livestock Cards To Be Distributed

FARMERS served by the East Stroudsburg Post Office will begin to receive 1962 Livestock Survey cards May 19, Norman B. Gregory, postmaster, announced yesterday.

The cards will be placed in mail boxes of a sample of farmers. This is in conjunction with the two state-wide livestock surveys conducted each year, one in May and the other in November.

Results of the survey will serve as a basis for estimating the number of livestock, production, size of crops, and the number of chickens and milk cows.

These reports will be included in the national inventory to be issued by the Statistical Reporting Service of USDA.

Gregory urges each person receiving a card to complete and return it as soon as possible to assure accurate forecasts and be sure that our area is well represented.

Gas Sales Drop In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania contended Monday the first year of an increased gasoline tax in the state saw a drop of $7.7 million gallons in gasoline use.

The 1961 legislature approved an increase in the gasoline tax from 5 to 7 cents. Since the boost went into effect last March opponents and backers of the levy have fought a statistical battle over what the boost has done to fuel use.

W. F. Richardson, secretary of the petroleum group, said the decline in gasoline consumption was 2.67 per cent. He termed the drop as "the hard, cold answer of reality to those who keep trying to minimize what the gas tax has done to the gasoline business in Pennsylvania."

Richardson said gasoline sales for the 12 months following the drop in tax income in March 1961 amounted to 3,197,210,478 gallons. Taxable gallons reported for the 12 months preceding the tax increase totaled 3,284,863,662, he said.

Highways Secretary Park H. Martin said recently motor fuels sales in Pennsylvania showed a 1.2 per cent gain during the first nine months of the fiscal year, June 1961 through February 1962. Richardson contended Martin used a special method of picking favorable months. He said official March figures would show a 10 million gallon loss instead of a 30 million gallon gain Martin claimed two weeks ago.

Pennsylvania Must File

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court directed Monday that the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey file answers by June 1 to a request by Texas for permission to sue over the ownership of $37,853 in unclaimed monies.

The monies were paid by Sun Oil Co. and include rental checks, oil and gas royalty checks, dividends, wages, services and supplies.

Sun was chartered under New Jersey laws, has offices in Pennsylvania and produces oil in Texas.

All three states claim the money through escheat laws, under which properties with no known rightful owner revert to the state. The Supreme Court, which has states, will decide later whether it will permit Texas to file suit against the two northern states.

Art Of Seeing

By MARCIA CLAPP
ARE you the proud owner of an early American glass pitcher? Have you ever watched the changing lights and shadows on a fine glass object?

This pitcher was made in South Jersey at one of the earliest and most distinguished glass factories started in 1739 by Caspar Wistar. The German tradition of glass-making was followed and the type produced was free-blown, fairly thick, and usually embellished with threading at the neck, lily-pads and loopings, often with knob-like ornaments.

These early glassblowers were excellent craftsmen who had an unerring instinct for fine proportions and design. The contour of handle which is satisfying in design and skillfully executed. Only those who have tried to place a handle on a curved shape can appreciate the artistic taste necessary in order to create a unified result.

Altho glass making in America began with the first settlers in Jamestown in 1607, little remains today and the great bulk of American glass collected now was made after 1800 and much of it after 1850. It was not until the 1800's that glass came into general use except for windows and bottles, as pottery, pewter and wood, filled the needs of most people until the 19th century's production methods lowered the costs of glass.

Practically all glass made before 1825 was blown by human lung power. Glass blown and manipulated into shape is called free-blown. Glass can also be blown into a mold to give it shape. This method is called blown-molded.

The most frequent products made at the South Jersey factory were pitchers, bowls and

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Batchler, in a brief appearance on the witness stand in his own defense, yesterday denied taking any "indecent liberties" with the first grade girls who had testified earlier in the trial. He was not cross-examined.

In summing up the defense case, Lewis said he believed the children testified to the best of their ability, but said it is impossible to explain exactly what happened.

He argued that the vagueness of the testimony of the children might indicate a lack of recollection on their part. He also cited the imagination of children and their desire for attention as possible contributing factors in the charge.

Cites Seriousness
Lewis also indicated that he did not think the children realized the seriousness of their testimony.

Marsh, in his summary, pointed out that three of the girls had testified directly to what Batchler did to them. Against this, the district attorney said, is only the testimony of the defendant that he did not. "The defendant is not a disinterested witness," Marsh said.

He pointed out that the court examined the children and was satisfied that they understood the necessity for telling the truth.

Marsh also debunked testimony of teachers and administrators who said that playground hours at the school are supervised. Marsh said he believes that there is supervision, but the fact that the teachers testified that they did not see anything happen is not an indication that it could not have.

Community Leaders Discuss Hospital Plan Projects

COMMUNITY leaders from the Stroudsburg area met yesterday with representatives of Blue Cross (Hospital Service Association of Northeastern Pennsylvania) to discuss current projects and future plans of the non-profit hospitalization association.

Thomas Jones, area service director for Blue Cross, was chairman of the annual luncheon meeting at the Penn Stroud Hotel.

Reviewing Blue Cross activities, Jones disclosed that the financial picture of the regional plan, based on the first quarter of 1962, appears to be improving. He said that although the plan continues to lose money for the sixth consecutive year, the rate of loss has been cut down.

One of the reasons for this was attributed by Jones to the merit rating program initiated last summer by Blue Cross. Based on initial results of this first year of merit rating, the hospitalization plan official said it appears merit rating has accomplished its purpose of alerting regional residents to higher costs brought on by possible abuse of hospital care and Blue Cross benefits.

Also discussed were medical review committees and community relations program of Blue Cross, set up to combat this problem.

Jones informed the local governmental, business, medical, hospital and civic leaders about the two newest programs being offered by Blue Cross. He outlined the recently inaugurated Major Medical Program and the College Student Benefit Program.

Present at yesterday's Blue Cross Area Advisory Committee Luncheon Meeting, at the Penn Stroud Hotel, were Leila N. Butz, Monroe Security Bank and Trust Company; Ruth W. Bonser, International Boiler Works Company; Ruth E. Brown, The Daily Record; Dorothy Meyer, Coates Board and Carton Company; Montgomery F. Crowe, Vice President, Board of Trustees, Monroe County General Hospital; Earl F. Groner, District Superintendent, Joseph E. Boyle, Blue Cross representative; Thomas Jones, Blue Cross, Chairman; J. R. Altomose, Line Material Industries; Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president, East Stroudsburg State Teachers' College; Harold E. Snyder, Borough of Stroudsburg; Dr. Harold S. Pond, Jr.; J. L. Kerlin, A. B. Wyckoff Department Store.

Horst issued the statement in answer to charges by J. Collins McSparan that not all of the 66 supported the GOP-organization candidate for governor, McSparan is opposing Scranton in Tuesday's primary election for the Republican nomination.

Erie was one of five counties singled out by McSparan in his claim that the statement on Scranton was misrepresentation.

Jury Finds Francis Guilty

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A jury of nine women and three men Monday found John E. Francis, former deputy city property commissioner, guilty of 21 of 25 charges arising from the Frankford Elevated repair scandals of last spring.

The jury deliberated two hours and 35 minutes before handing up its verdict to Judge Theodore L. Reimel.

Francis faces a maximum of 37 years in prison or $22,000 in fines or both. Reimel deferred sentencing pending motion for a new trial.

Defense counsel Charles A. Peruto called no witnesses, telling the jury there was no need since "the Commonwealth has not proved its case."

Francis, the first of three former city officials to come to trial in the case, was charged in 25 bills of indictment which include conspiracy, false pretense, fraud, accepting bribes and extortion.

The case broke in April, 1961, with admissions by contractor Eli G. Travis that he gave gifts to city employees while his firms were under contract to the city for repairs of the el.

New Urinary Treatment Found

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two University of Pennsylvania doctors Monday reported development of a new procedure in finding urinary infections in children that may help solve many serious kidney diseases striking adults.

Drs. John J. Murphy and Harry W. Schoenberg, in a paper read at the American Urological Association meeting here, said the new diagnostic procedure involves the taking of X-ray movies of bladder function while measuring the pressure within the bladder.

They reported that by studying bladder function and pressure concurrently they have been able to determine the exact cause and location of urinary malfunction, and then treat it, either through medication or by surgery.

The two urologists said they were aided in the project by Dr. Theodore A. Tristram, assistant professor of radiology at Penn's Medical School.

They said they studied more than 100 children ranging in age from new born infants to 12-year-olds.

Only A Primary

There are very few phrases in the English language more than the one we often hear at this time of the year. Great interest has been shown, naturally, by the politicians in today's Primary Election, but the ordinary man on the street is somewhat apathetic.

Most citizens feel that the primaries are unimportant squabbles between various factions in a given political party, and, as far as exercising their right to vote feel that it is "only a primary" and the real effort should be made at the General Election. So they won't even bother to vote.

Yet, locally and statewide, the Primary is the more important election. It is at this time that we choose the candidate who will run to be elected and serve in office at the November election. If the best candidate in each party do not win at the Primary, we are starting off with inferior candidates on the ballot in the Fall.

Locally, there are a number of contests on the primary ballot. We will not endorse any of them individually, but we would exhort the voters of Monroe County to get to the polls today and make certain that the actual choice of the public has his or her name on the ballot in November. Casting a ballot by all who are eligible is the only way that this can be accomplished.

The polls for the Primary Election are open until nine o'clock tonight. As you read this, if you have not already done so, get to your proper voting place and exercise your priceless right to a free vote.

By so doing, you will be assured of the public's choice of those candidates they deem best for the county and the state—and you will be protecting one of the greatest assets of our American heritage.

It is not "Only A Primary." It is the backbone of Americanism!

Help For Higher Education

The House Rules Committee, in rather lordly fashion, has agreed to let the long-delayed federal-aid-to-colleges bill go to a Senate-House conference. It did so only after it got assurances from House participants in the joint conference that they would not accept the scholarship provision in the Senate version of the bill.

This behavior won't surprise anyone who over the years has followed the high-handed doings of the Rules Committee and its chairman, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.). But it's wrong, nevertheless. The purpose of the Rules Committee is to arrange an orderly flow of legislation, not to make deals for manipulating what the legislation says.

Despite the Deal, it is god that the bill is in motion once again. The unprecedented demands that will be placed on higher education in the next few years make it urgent that Congress pass the bill this year.

The heart of the legislation is the provision for $1.5 billion aid over the next five years to help public and private colleges construct new facilities. Federal aid for building dormitories has been available for years, but the proposed new aid would cover classrooms, libraries, laboratories and other academic buildings. This is especially important to the commuter colleges in our large cities, where so much of the enrollment demand will come in the last half of the '60s. Although the Senate ad House versions of the bill carry the same amount for construction, the Senate specified that it all be in loans, while the House bill would permit 60 percent of the funds to be used as grants.

The Senate, in a welcome move, added a provision to earmark $50 million a year for the next five years as matching grants to the states to help build junior colleges. This would be a real break-through for the fastest growing form of higher education facility, and the House should accept the provision.

No doubt there will be a great deal of pulling and tugging over the scholarship program. Even without Rep. Smith's arm-twisting, there is considerable opposition in the House to handing out federal scholarships. Since the President's proposals and budget did not include the $50-million-a-year junior college aid, a scaling down of the scholarship help would be in order. But even if reduced, a beginning to a scholarship program is desirable.

The Vassar Problem

Apparently the Liberals have discovered another subject for mental exercise. The President of Vassar, Sarah Gibson Blanding, after considerable cogitation, expressed opposition to premarital relations and promiscuity among Vassar girls. That does not mean that all Vassar girls have such relations; it does mean that Vassar chooses not to be a place for those who do. And it is Vassar's prerogative to make the choice.

The Liberals feel that all sex relations are a matter for private decision and that if girls choose to be bums, that is strictly their own affair. On the other hand, a college, a university, or even a club or hotel, it would seem to me, is entitled to have some say as to who is to be admitted into its buildings.

Most American colleges, these days, permit their students to marry and it does seem a sight for sore eyes watching a student, big with child, marching about a campus. I can see no particular objection to married students although it does strike me as a little odd when the girls waited until after they are graduated.

It is the "shaking-up" which I do think is very objectionable and I am sure Miss Blanding had that in mind although she preferred to speak of it more professionally. It is, of course, a private matter how one chooses to go to the Devil, or, if anyone objects to references to the Fallen Angel, it is possible to say, how one destroys herself.

But it becomes a social question when so large a number of marriages result in divorces which only too often means broken homes and the sacrifice of children to the lusts and passions of sex experimentation. It also is a social question when sex relations destroy the physical fitness and the propriety of a nat eoinby the acceptance of unusual and perverse relationship as normal.

The assumption that the college has nothing to do with character building of the nation is to relegate such institutions to an intellectual isolation unrelated to the life and welfare of the community. This cannot be the purpose of any college.

The Liberals suggest that the real trouble with such schools as Vassar is that they are for females only, which, they say, is abnormal and means that the girls, having been maleless for five days, bust loose and go wild. This is nonsense as the standards and grades of girls' colleges establish beyond doubt. The standards are tougher and the grades are higher and many girls do their majoring in tough subjects.

Marriage is still a popular enterprise among young ladies and from my observations, most girls accept the customs of the land and of the moment without too much fuss. There are periods of puritanical attitudes and periods when anything goes.

Those who believe that promiscuity and other forms of assertive emancipation are evidences of Liberalism confuse words and acts. The real danger is that when girls in college attempt personal adventures without adequate preparation, they often get fouled up, like the 19 year old girl in the Bronx, who had an abortion and was caught by the police.

It is easy work for the arm-chair philosopher to write advice to the lovelorn and to take an uncompromising attitude toward individual rights, but Miss Blanding shows better sense based on broad experience. She knows that it is the girl who gets into a jam and who is, only too often, deserted by the guy who cannot do much about it, anyhow, because he is a jerk in the first place. She knows that decent parents are concerned about what happens to their children and that it becomes costly to a school if it gets a bad name.

Perhaps if the modern students, male and female, were not so sloppy in dress and in manner, their minds would not be so devoted, even on weekends, to illicit sex and taverns and motels.

The girls' colleges have long histories and have existed through many changes of customs and habits. They have their place in our society, just as the co-educational college has. Students must be judged by the marks they get in hard subjects and by their character as displayed when among other human beings. Those who cannot restrain themselves, who try everything that comes their way, who leave trails of disturbance behind them, are not worth much in the long run.

Most parents will support Miss Blanding's point of view.

About Town

An American and a Russian soldier faced one another across the barriers of East and West Berlin. In time they fell into an argument.

"In my country," said the American, "I can go to the door of the White House and ring the bell and say just what I think of Kennedy."

"So what," said the Russian contemptuously. "In my country I can go to the gate of the Kremlin and say just what I think about Kennedy."

Troubled Trouble Shooter

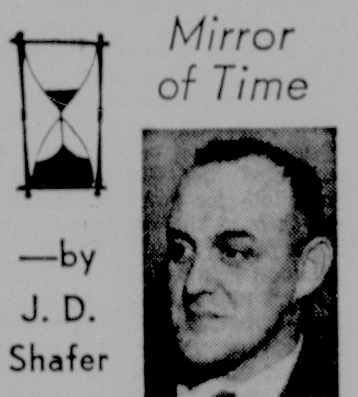

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg—Twice a year Pennsylvanians get a chance to "speak"—today's primary election is one of them; the November general election the other.

While today's primary of course is limited to selection merely of party candidates in anticipation of the November election it does have its critical part in the overall picture and its overtones will be far from lost or insignificant.

For the most part the primary this year has centered almost exclusively on the gubernatorial fracas—this office being the only one contested in either party on the truly statewide level. The posts of Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs, and U.S. Senator in both parties fall in the "settled" category.

On the gubernatorial front there is little other than desultory waving of paper knives and hatchets on the Democratic side between organization-backed Richardson Dilworth and two independents, Harvey F. Johnston,

10 Years Ago

Attempts were being made to locate a $62 million dollar air force base in Pennsylvania. Avoca was one of the sites selected for the proposal maintenance base.

Robert Blood, a beach resort operator in Milford, filled a $30,000 suit against New York City for alleged pollution of the Neversink River, a tributary of the Delaware River.

John R. Craig, Republican candidate for the 15th Congressional district, was the guest at the Monroe County Republican Women's meeting.

Two errors by Bangor High School proved fatal in a baseball game with Stroudsburg High School. Stroudsburg won 3-2.

20 Years Ago

State Police from Mount Pocono barracks were investigating the theft of a ton of sugar, some canned goods and some silver plate from Buck Hill Falls.

State Police stopped a car in a routine procedure, but this one was different. It was loaded with alcohol being transported to the Wilkes-Barre area. The driver was sentenced to pay $300 in fines and costs and then released without his cargo from the Monroe County jail.

A chain store in Stroudsburg was selling motor oil for 15 cents a quart.

How many remember when Jack Hagerty's car plunged over the bank at Fifth and Sixth Sts.? No one in the car was seriously injured.

The Public 'Speaks'

McKees Rocks, and Charles J. Schmitt, of Girard, Erie County. The Republican gubernatorial story has been quite different. J. Collins McSparran, of Drumore, Lancaster County has slugged shoulder to shoulder and chin to chin with GOParty bigwig-backed Congressman William W. Scranton—to the somewhat nettling consternation of GOParty brass and Mr. Scranton himself.

This has been the only tiff on the statewide front worthy of several healthy sneezes. This is the contest well worthy watching—because Mr. McSparran in his independent bid has been just as vigorous (if not more so) in his approach as that of Mr. Scranton.

Mr. McSparran is not expected to win the nod—he has neither the money nor the organization behind him that Mr. Scranton enjoys. But in all of this there are two salient factors worth noting and remembering as the returns start rolling in tonight:

(1)—A large GOP voter turnout today, which would reflect the independent or non-party line vote potential, could give Grange Master McSparran an extremely heavy vote and could even swing the gong in his favor. This is one point that should be looked for on the returns on the GOP gubernatorial front.

(2)—Fledgling Scranton, whose lone venture into the political arena involves current completion of his first term as a congressman, is viewed by some of the more hopeful political old pros as "limber" or "material" for 1946 presidential consideration.

At the moment this seemingly is rather far-fetched inasmuch as (a) he still has to win today's primary, and (b) if he moves off with the party flowerpot today, there remains the more brutal block-busting general election campaign in the fall.

However, even if he moves along successfully with the rabbit-out-of-the-hatters in today's lever-pulling session, he must accomplish the feat by something approaching an overwhelming margin to be other than run-of-the-mill insofar as 1946 presidential or vice-presidential potentialities are concerned.

In voting booth capsule then, Mr. Scranton should produce exceptionally heavy—or else.

Thus from this standpoint it isn't so important as to whether he emerges the victor—but by what margin. On this basis it can be largely seen as to the degree of acceptance he can expect in the critical fall runoff—where to win he'll have to pull not only from his own GOP people but also from the opposition Democratic side as well.

This is the year Pennsylvania Republicans either go for broke and make the grade (or go broke) or they'll ride indefinitely from here on out as the minority party.

The year 1962 is regarded as that critical; today's primary is a lead up to that point.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark
Exercise your right to vote and go to the polls today. There is no way better to show your interest in local, state and national affairs of government than to cast a ballot at the Primary and later General Election.

It would be terrible if a level-headed could not pull a lever for the person or persons believed to be the right man or woman for a certain political position.

No one person holds as much power as the voter. If he feels the wrong man is in office and we need a change, he can perform that miracle by pulling the lever for new blood. If he feels experience has served us well then he can make sure that type politician carries the ball for another term.

It's a simple deed to be performed. But a most complicated answer that is added up. In a Primary like today's dedication to the party to which one is registered is a must.

However, with open local fights in the Democratic and Republican parties much thought must be given to the individuals who fit the nearest to party doctrine and would serve all of the people all of the time.

Actually the Primary sifts the men from the boys. But it is Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Voter who has the say in such matters. If the citizens abuse that right and not go to the polls, it is the same people who suffer in the long run.

The voter who doesn't cast a ballot in the Primary and General election has no argument at all after the votes are counted. After all, when the time arrived for him to have his say—his tongue was in his cheek.

It's like locking the barn after the horse has been stolen.

No man or woman should miss the opportunity to pull the lever today. It is our duty as American citizens. It is our way to show faith in America—a faith that has been salvaged since man first had the opportunity to vote for the man or woman of HIS or HER choice.

Try and Stop Me

A pugnacious personality, exactly five feet tall and three sheets to the wind, staggered into a bar and loudly declared, "I'm the wild bull of Killarney and I can lick any bum in this joint."

The bartender leaned casually across the bar, hit him lightly in the stomach, and sent him sprawling to the floor. He took the Killarneyites a few seconds to regain his composure, and then he told the bartender reproachfully, "Never hit a wild bull that way, man. It's the silliest thing you can do!"

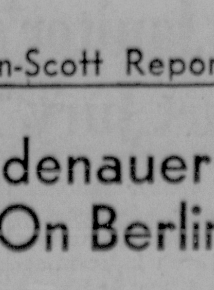

An earnest young high school scribe was interviewing the writer of seven consecutive rock-and-roll hits. Asked the scribe earnestly, "Which do you steal first—the words or the music?"

The Allen-Scott Report

Washington, May 15—Chancellor Adenauer's alliance-shaking decision to toss a monkey wrench into the U.S.-Soviet talks on West Berlin was triggered by a warning that Russia was preparing to accept Secretary Rusk's three-point solution to ease the German crisis.

This sudden change of heart by the Soviet was reported to Adenauer last week by an alert German diplomat who discovered it at his post in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, more than 5,000 miles from Bonn.

Adenauer's Blasts On Berlin Talks

The German Foreign Service officer, whose name must remain secret, learned that Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichev told Brazil's Foreign Minister Francisco San Tiago Dantas that Russia planned to accept Rusk's Berlin proposals.

He reported that the Kremlin's acceptance of the U.S. plan would include Rusk's proposal for setting up a 13-nation international control commission to police the access routes to West Berlin, which Adenauer opposed.

Other provisions of the U.S. plan, that the Soviet indicates it will accept, call for (1) a pact banning the supplying of nuclear weapons to troops of both East and West Germany; and (2) a NATO and the Warsaw Pact alliance.

This surprise intelligence on Soviet reaction, which was directly opposite to the findings Secretary Rusk presented to the NATO foreign ministers meeting in Athens, caused the West German leader to seek further clarification from Washington.

Meanwhile, Adenauer's own intelligence officials confirmed his diplomat's report of the Patolichev-Dantas conversations. They also came up with a report that Secretary Rusk had discussed international control commission plan with Soviet Ambassador Dobrynin during their last meeting in Washington.

When the State Department talks, the 86-year-old Chancellor decided to issue his public blast. His reasoning was that the Dobrynin-Rusk talks must be halted until his diplomats determined whether the U.S. and Russia had already reached an understanding on Rusk's three-point plan.

Adenauer frankly told aides that if such an understanding did exist, West Germany would join France in refusing to take part in any further negotiations on West Berlin.

State Department officials deny any such U.S.-Soviet understanding. They point out that the talks have been only of an exploratory nature with no attempt to reach any type of accord.

Note: President Kennedy is so disturbed by Adenauer's inquiries that he is considering sending Secretary Rusk to Bonn for a face-to-face meeting with the West German leader. If that doesn't reassure him, the President says he will arrange a meeting with Adenauer.

STRANGE CONFLICT — Information trickling into Washington from Ladakh, the Himalayan area under contention between India and Red China, indicates that each country has from 20,000 to 25,000 troops in the high plateau region but that both sides are cautiously avoiding clashes.

Logistics for the Indian forces have been vastly improved from Srinagar, in Kashmir, across the 11,500-foot Jigla Pass into Leh, Ladakh's capital. According to U.S. Intelligence estimates, many new Indian military posts have been established in the area of the Karakoram Pass leading from Red China's Sinkiang province in Ladakh, where Peiping's troops are occlaimed by India.

Red Chinese patrols reportedly have encircled Indian posts but pulled back without attacking. The Indians are under orders not to shoot unless the Red Chinese attack. So far, there have been no attacks.

CUTTING TAXES — President Kennedy is delaying until mid-to-recommend a personal income tax cut this year.

The President told his congressional leaders last week that, "The prospects for tax reduction should not be completely ruled out."

He pointed out that while he plans no recommendation at this time, he will seriously consider sending Congress a request to cut personal income taxes later if the economy should take another dip or unemployment increases.

"We should know by the middle of July which way the economy is heading," the President told the legislators. "I'm not going to make a final decision on this one until then."

The President offered his "thinking" on tax cutting during a White House legislative meeting at which the Administration's tax reform bill was discussed. Senate Finance Committee. That tax bill is now before the President told the leaders that Economic Council Chairman Walter Heller is now making a study to determine what effect speeding up the business pace.

Bangor Woman Is Named Regional UCP Director

FRANK M. Hahn, president of United Cerebral Palsy of Northampton-Monroe Counties, announces the appointment of Mrs. Jane O. Lange, Bangor, to the professional staff of the local U.C.P. affiliate. She will fill the position of home service director.

Mrs. Lange, a registered nurse, is a graduate of Utica Free Academy, Utica, N.Y., and Boston Children's Hospital, Boston, Mass. She was employed for some time as head nurse of Berkshire School for Crippled Children in Pittsfield, Mass., and was staff nurse in charge of all orthopedic cases with the Eastern Visiting Nurse Association between 1940 and 1944. She has done private duty nursing and was most recently employed as night supervisor of nurses at "Gracedale" in Nazareth, before becoming a member of United Cerebral Palsy's professional staff.

Mrs. Lange has just completed an intensive orientation program and is now prepared to begin her duties as home service director in the field.

Her primary function will be to provide help to families with problems of caring for handicapped children and adults in the home. Adapting furniture, feeding devices, suggesting leisure time and effective play activities are elements of her program. Making nurses and families familiar with specialized resources (C.P. resident homes, vocational services, and the like) is also a part of this program.

The need for such a service has been pointed out by a "Survey of Services and Needs of the Cerebral Palsied in Northampton-Monroe Counties," conducted by United Cerebral Palsy of Pennsylvania. The survey shows that the two county area covered by this affiliate has an estimated 329 cases of cerebral palsy, including children and adults.

Mrs. Lange has earned membership in both the American Red Cross Nursing Service and Civil Defense.

She is the wife of William A. Lange and has two children, William, Jr., and Linda Jane, at home.

Any inquiries regarding services to the cerebral palsied will be welcomed, Hahn announced. Anyone may obtain information by writing the office at 43 Wright Street, Easton, or by calling Easton, 238-2721.

The wings, topped by a wreath-circled star, were presented Maj. Epsaro by Fort Rucker's Commanding General, Brig. Gen. Robert R. Williams, the second time that he has made a significant award to Maj. Epsaro.

Maj. Epsaro is a native of East Stroudsburg, and resides at 223 East Brown Street, the home of Mrs. Frank Maguire, while away from his military duties. The late Dr. and Mrs. Maguire have cared for Major Epsaro since early childhood when a fire destroyed his home in Stroudsburg and he was the only survivor.

Maj. Epsaro's sister, Mrs. Earl Parnell, resides at 122 North Fifth Street. He attended East Stroudsburg State College and is a graduate of Franklin-Marshall College.

Nineteen years ago, at Fort Sill, Okla., Maj. Epsaro received his gold bars of a Second Lieutenant from the then-Captain Williams who was in the Training Branch of The Field Artillery School.

There are few, if any, Army aviators who can top Maj. Epsaro's record of more than 12,000 hours flying time in Army aircraft. He began flying in the Civilian Pilot Training Program prior to World War II, and is qualified to fly both fixed and rotary-wing aircraft used by the Army.

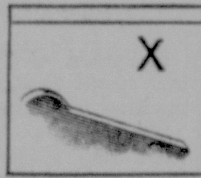

Maj. Epsaro is now Deputy Director, Primary Fixed Wing Department, U.S. Army Aviation School.

Performer Added To Repertory

TED Tingling of "The Fantasticks", a hit off-Broadway play, has been signed to the repertory company of players which will open The Cherry Lane Playhouse with the Pulitzer Prize play, "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, on June 11.

This new theatre, which is now under construction, about 10 miles north of Stroudsburg, will bring plays to the Pocono Mountains this summer in a full season of repertory. Plays scheduled are "Charley's Aunt," "Dial M For Murder" and "The Crucible" along with the opening, "Our Town".

Tingling, a featured player with Helen Hayes' Equity Theatre, and on ABC-TV's "Naked City", has been kept busy as an actor in many facets of the business.

He can be seen on many television commercials sporting a wholesome and typical "American" look. (Strangely enough, he was actually born in China). Ted and his wife, Joanne and son, Dennis will be waiting for an addition to their lovely little family to join them in Stroudsburg some time in July.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

There are many mysteries in life which I shall never solve including what the catcher says to the pitcher when he walks out there, but I may have solved one of the major mysteries of the American system of juris prudence: what's going on when nothing's happening in court?

There were many minor mysteries raised by my brief day in court like who are all the people and why are they there? The people on the right are jurors as I found out when I tried to sit on that side. The people on the left weren't so easily classified.

There were some who looked like witnesses, and a group of young people who looked like what we used to call a Civics class but now is social studies. But then there were women with a whole crew of little children like a kindergarten.

Do you suppose mothers get together and suggest: "Why don't you take the children to court today, while I do my shopping, and I'll take yours to court tomorrow"? It might not be a bad idea, at that. You can keep up on your Civics and keep them amused at the same time.

During the time I was there the entertainment seemed to consist mostly of recesses when everybody went and got a drink of water. That's when I got a clue about maybe why there are often long and inexplicable delays in court procedure.

The jury is called, the ones not wanted are excused, the rest are sworn in, the judge, the lawyers, the clients are ready, the crowd quiets expectantly — and nothing happens.

Oh, some lawyers go out and others come in and there is a general shuffling of papers but that's all. It's as if they were waiting for somebody, a key witness or a something.

If that's what it is, I can tell them where to look: in the men's room in the Law Library which has a door which sticks so effectively that nobody can get out unless somebody else has to go in. Since this is not the sort of an accident a key witness would confess to willingly, maybe nobody realizes what the problem is.

New Barrett Junior Women 63rd Audience For Rotary's Student From New Zealand

Barrett—An armchair tour of New Zealand was presented by Miss Nuala Downey, Rotary Exchange Student from New Zealand at the Barrett Junior Women's Club meeting Thursday night at the Barrett Branch YMCA.

Miss Downey was warmly by her sponsoring Rotarians that she should expect to give possibly six or seven talks for local groups on her arrival. Thursday night was her 63rd such "talk."

Slides of the two islands which make up her homeland were accompanied by her commentary on the number of sheep as opposed to population. There are twice as many sheep as people.

The greatest contrast offered was the menus. New Zealanders have five meals a day and are addicted to tea in the same manner as Americans are to coffee.

Prior to Miss Downey's program, the first officers of the new organization were installed in candlelight ceremonies. Mrs. W. Roy Williams was installed as president; Mrs. Dale Price, first vice president; Mrs. Neill Leister, second vice president; Mrs. Roger Lindsey, recording secretary; Mrs. Joseph Bender, Jr., corresponding secretary and Mrs. Richard Williams, treasurer.

During the business meeting, plans were finalized for the concession stand to be run today at the polls in the Barrett Elementary Center. A staff of Junior Women will be on hand to sell coffee, donuts and sodas to voters. Proceeds will go toward the community center.

Township Dance
Mrs. Wanda Vogt, ways and means committee chairman, was in charge of the arrangements. She also reported on the WARM-Land Dance to be held for the teens of Monroe County at the Pocono Rollerdom on May 29. She said the date was chosen since there will be no school the following day. Kirby Scott, disc jockey from radio station WARM, Scranton, will be master of ceremonies. Bobby Rambau will be guest artist. Records and albums will be given as prizes in dance contests. Tickets are available from members of the club and will be made available through students in area schools.

Following the program, the members and guests were served by the hostess committee, Mrs. Roger Lindsey, Mrs. Wayne Boyd and Mrs. Russell Dann served cakes iced in pastels to match to spring centerpiece arranged by Mrs. Lindsey. Yellow candles and yellow tablecloths completed the decor.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, June 7, at 8:15 p.m. in the Barrett Branch YMCA. A member of the Barrett Lions will be the guest speaker on the subject of the community center concerning future plans by the Lions and availability of funds.

'Inner Space' Costs Money In Food Packaging, Speaker Tells Women's Federation

"Taxpayers pay plenty for outer space—we don't intend to pay for inner space," Mrs. Marcell Fox, chairman of the home life department of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs quoted a homemaker in her talk yesterday afternoon.

Last year a fifth of all packaged food examined in the state of Pennsylvania was found to be short in weight, Mrs. Fox reported to member of the Woman's Club of the Stroudsburg at Stroud Community House.

Theme of her talk was "What You Don't Know Will Hurt You" in urging consumer education. Club women inaugurated the Food and Drug administration, she pointed out, whose responsibility is to see that all drugs and foods are labeled and that the contents are checked.

She urged all shoppers to read all labels, compare contents and weights with other brands to be sure they were not being misled by blown-up advertising and false statements. Since much of the buying is done on a credit plan, she urged the club women to study the plans and learn what interest they really are paying and to instruct their teen-agers in these matters.

She was introduced by Mrs. Samuel O. Wells, III. Mrs. Edward C. Hess presided at the meeting with opening exercises led by Mrs. Roger A. Dunning and Mrs. Robert Raseley.

Elect Officers
All officers were re-elected for the coming year with the exception of the post of assistant recording secretary to which Mrs. Charles A. Park was elected.

Emmons, recording secretary; Mrs. Gordon Coy, Sr., corresponding secretary; Miss Margaret Stutcher, treasurer.

Louis Stein, guest soloist, sang "Climb Every Mountain," "Trees," a selection from "Showboat" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." His accompanist was Mrs. Fred Quig.

A second Home Tours This summer, to be sponsored by the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs was announced.

Members of the Stroudsburg Club were asked to volunteer to work at the Well-Baby Clinic. Members were also asked for knitting yarn and needles for the mitten projects, and funds for the Mile of Pennies.

Mrs. Paul Holloway read the sonnet she had entered in the Pennsylvania sonnet contest which received third honorable mention.

The meeting was preceded by a tea served from a Springtime table. Mrs. Virginia Wallace, Mrs. Franklin Smith and Mrs. Walton Smiley were chairmen, assisted by Mrs. F. J. Trumbour, Mrs. M. S. Baldwin, Mrs. Grant Nitraser, Mrs. Edwin Oettel and Mrs. Henry Surrey.

This picture shows only a portion of the many thousands of feet (over 2 miles) of pipe that had to be installed and welded at Pocono Ice-A-Rama by C. A. Hay. In addition to this maze of pipe many more were installed and welded leading from the main equipment in the boiler room, involving over 800 welds and servicing 4,000 square feet of skating area. Concert Organist To Play At Area Dystrophy Dinner

LARRY Ferrari, Philadelphia concert organist, will be the featured guest of the Carbon-Monroe-Schuylkill Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy Association May 22 during its third annual citations dinner program in Mahoning Valley Country Club.

The Palmyra, N. J. pianist will present a program of organ music following the awarding of citations and awards to the press, radio, organizations and individuals for their participation in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

An all-time high was reached by the chapter during its 1961 fund drive. A grand total of $12,831.02 was raised through door-to-door solicitations and canister collections.

The figure represents almost twice as much as was collected a year ago and was well in excess of the chapter's $9,000 goal.

Some 40 citations and awards are expected to be doled out by Fred Ward Switzer, of Lehighton, chapter president. William H. Speakman of Harrisburg, state MDAA director, will convey the congratulations of national headquarters to the chapter for its outstanding work. The chapter has raised over $30,000 in its brief four-year history. One fourth of the amount collected has been used by the chapter in conducting an extensive patient service program.

All of the dystrophics under the chapter's care are expected to be on hand for the dinner program. Actually, the program is being billed as part of the chapter's for its patients.

Palmer Crushes Potts In Playoff

By MIKE COCHRAN
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Pressure-proof Arnold Palmer unleashed another dazzling windup Monday and tripped Johnny Potts by four strokes in an 18-hole playoff for the $40,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Championship.

Palmer, leading by one stroke after nine holes, trimmed three shots from par on the back nine of the sprawling par 70 course in capturing his first title here. He picked up a fat $7,000 paycheck. He had a 37 going out and in typical Palmer fashion, a red hot

Plante Hockey's MVP

MONTREAL (AP) — Jacques Plante's brilliant comeback was climaxed Monday when he was named winner of the Hart Memorial Trophy as the National Hockey League's most valuable player for the 1961-62 season.

The veteran Montreal Canadiens' goalie collected 94 points in the split-season voting by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities. Doug Harvey, player-coach of the New York Rangers, was second with 60 points. He was followed by Bobby Hull, Chicago, 53 points; Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings, a first-time MVP, 40 points, and Andy Bathgate of the Rangers, 31.

Plante is only the fourth goaltender to capture the Hart Trophy which has been awarded annually since 1924. Sent to the minors for three weeks during the 1960-61 campaign when a knee injury slowed him down, Plante rebounded brilliantly this past season and won the Vezina Trophy for a record-equalling sixth time. He played in all 70 regular season games, allowing 166 goals for a goals-against average of 2.37.

Plante will receive $1,000 from the league for his victory in the Hart Trophy balloting.

New Way To Lose Your Shirt

NEW YORK (AP) — Now they've got a way for you to lose your shirt without leaving your seat. And looking into the future, you might be able to tap out at the corner grocery store.

The Electronic Assistance Corporation, with the assistance of a young lady, demonstrated a new system for betting at race tracks Monday. It's as simple as operating a slot machine, with about the same results.

It eliminates standing in line, hoping from one window to another to place various size bets, and generally separates you from your bankroll with speed and dispatch.

Under the system, which President Robert Edwards of the company hopes to sell to race tracks, you buy a stack of cards at the start of the day, and when you want to make a bet you slip the card into one of the hundreds of handy machines, punch a couple of buttons and you're done.

An electronic computer takes care of the rest. If you win, you stick the ticket in another slot at the payoff window, the machine decides the payoff and flashes it on a screen only you can see.

A man hands you the money. There is no plan to eliminate him.

Decidedly's Trainer Hot Over Track

BALTIMORE (AP) — Trainer Horatio Luro's Spanish blood was running hot Monday over rocks accidentally strewn over the Pimlico track, and he threatened to withhold Kentucky Derby winner Decidedly from Saturday's Preakness.

"I'm not going to run unless the track is 100 per cent okay," said the serious Argentinian. Luro canceled a scheduled workout for Decidedly Monday morning and said if he has to miss one Tuesday "I just won't run" Saturday.

"I've waited 25 years for a horse like this and I'm not going to take a chance of injuring him with something like this," Luro continued. "I'm more interested in keeping his horse sound than I am in the triple crown."

Luro said he talked by telephone to California with George Pope Jr., owner of Decidedly, and that he had "given me full authority and left the judgment up to me" whether the gray colt will try to tie the Preakness to his Derby victory. The Belmont next month completes the triple crown for 3-year-olds.

The rocks showed up in new sand put on the track Sunday. Pimlico officials said someone had overlooked sifting it beforehand. They sent out crews to pick out stones by hand and machine.

Luro said he sent out a stable hand to inspect the track before working Decidedly and "he came back with a big enormous stone. I got up and galloped around myself and I came back with a pocketful of rocks."

He canceled the workout as did the trainers of two other Preakness probabilities, Roman Line and Ridan, who were the first to finish behind Decidedly in the Derby May 5. While the rocks were giving Pimlico officials a nightmare, they also received word from John Gaver, Greentree Stable trainer, not to expect Cyano for the $150,000-added race. Gaver decided that after Cyano finished third in the Withers Mile last Saturday, the colt wasn't up to the mile and three-sixteenths Preakness.

Bangor Thinclads Victorious

BANGOR — Despite three victories by Earl Palmer of East Stroudsburg, the Slayers of Bangor High pulled to a 58-41 decision over the Cavaliers in a Lehigh-Northampton League dual meet here yesterday.

Palmer, the Cavaliers' short running ace, captured first place in the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes.

Minoso Placed On Disabled List

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals Monday placed outfielder Minoso on the disabled list with a skull fracture, out with a skull fracture, on the disabled list for 30 days, opening a place on the club's 25-man roster.

A club spokesman said Minoso's place eventually will be filled but the club had no immediate plans for bringing up a player from the minors. Trade talks doubtless will be renewed.

Baseball commissioner Ford Frick has approved the move.

Charley Jones, a right-handed hitter, and Doug Clemens, a left-hander, have been taking Minoso's place. Both are hitting for high averages, but the Redbirds were counting heavily on the Cuban for badly needed right-handed power to keep the club in the pennant race over the long haul.

Crowe's Back In DVL Race

CROWE'S Insurance of the Delaware Valley League won four points from Nazareth Speedway of Easton, Saturday night at Colonial Lanes.

Okay Stuckey's 256-674 was high for Crowe's and B. Rice was high for Nazareth Speedway with 515.

At the same time first place Fleas were bowling a double match, of which one was a make up session. The first match was a big exhibition as Sullivan won the first game and the middle game was a 1063 tie. And the last game Fleas rolled over 1100. The totals showed Fleas with a match over 3100 and Sullivan over 3000.

Ritz's of Bethlehem was their second guest of the evening and took a clean sweep from their host, and enabled the local Crowe team a chance for a tie for first place.

Capt. Ray Uhler of the visiting team was Russ Bergmans top competitor for high average for the league, and unofficially it is thought with his 577 score for the evening and Uhler's tough luck showing, captured the high honor with a 195 plus.

Jake Nittel has been notified by the league secretary that they will be a double match next Saturday to determine the league champion. The first match will be bowled at Colonial Lanes at one o'clock and the two teams will travel to Easton to bowl on the Fleas home alleys. The winner is determined on total pin fall.

MR. AND Mrs. Wilmer Huff of Delaware Park were here Wednesday to visit Mrs. Huff's sister Mrs. Nelson Lightner, Sr. and Mrs. John Jennings, Sr. After five months illness, Mr. Huff has been discharged from the Glen Gardner Hospital and is rapidly improving in health.

Let (J.G.) James R. Howard of the U.S.S. Goodrich is on a short furlough. Last Tuesday, he had dinner with his grandfather, Frank Howard of this borough, and his father, Floyd Howard of Stroudsburg, was also present. Howard has been stationed at Maryport, Florida, but will be leaving shortly for a tour of duty.

The concert given by the Choir School of Washington, N.J. churches, last week, was attended by Mrs. Frank Howard. She said that the 300 voices responded perfectly to the leading of Mrs. Spencer Mader, M.M. This school has been conducted for 16 years by the Methodist, Presbyterian, Lutheran and Baptist Churches. The concert was given in the Presbyterian Church. Five medals were bestowed for attendance and achievement. Mrs. Howard's granddaughters, Winona Fleming and Constance Smith, received two of them. Constance Smith is also the granddaughter of Mrs. Robert Powell of Stroudsburg.

Community Planning Itemized

"CONTINUITY and excellence in the planning process depends not on the skill of the planner as much as it does on the level of interest and participation of the people of the community. This is the key to progress," Harold F. Wise, city planning consultant, Philadelphia Industrial Corporation, told more than 400 Central Eastern Pennsylvania community leaders at Pennsylvania Power & Light Company's Community Planning Seminar recently at Hazleton.

Another recognized expert in community planning, Francis A. Pitkin, executive director, State Planning Board, speaking of "The Master Plan" said, "The heart of the matter in community planning is a thorough, comprehensive plan which clearly defines the community's objectives and outlines the ways and means of obtaining those objectives."

Pitkin also emphasized the fact that the success of any community plan depends on the citizens themselves, citing several examples of depressed areas in Pennsylvania that effectively employed a master plan.

Success of such a master plan, as Pitkin described it, is dependent on awareness of all the community problems that exist so that the solution to each can be integrated into one single program. He also said that Pennsylvania has a great physical and economic heritage and that the future economic well-being of the Commonwealth could even surpass its past with proper community planning and public enthusiasm.

Planning authority Peter A. Larson, executive director, Delaware County Planning Commission, explained the history and reason for zoning. Discussing "Zoning As A Planning Tool," he defined a community plan as a representative of the people's hopes, aspirations and goals. Then he described zoning as "a set of rules made by the elected officials of a community to fix a pattern of orderly development."

"Zoning," Larson said, reflects the community plan where-ever possible and makes the transition from hopes, aspirations and goals to houses, factories and farms a reality." He also pointed out that, "Planning and zoning are both essential. To plan without a zone is an invitation to disaster."

Ralph C. Swartz, Pennsylvania Power & Light Company vice president, commercial, pointed out that PP&L was one of the first utility companies in a nation to establish a department devoted exclusively to industrial development of the area it serves. "Nevertheless, we regard area development as a part of every employee's job," he added. "In fact, we are

Famed Thunderbirds Slated To Perform At A-B-E'Port

THE U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds, the world's first supersonic aerobatic team, is expected to attract the largest crowds in Lehigh Valley history when they put on their half-hour demonstration over the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport, Sunday. The aerial demonstration that begins at 2:30 p.m. will be the dramatic climax of special two day Armed Forces Week activities at the airport.

From the opening roar of their afterburners until the last smoke trail has faded out, the Thunderbirds put on a dazzling aerial demonstration of formation flying that has no equal anywhere in the world. The show actually resembles an aerial ballet as the fliers maneuver their planes like a precision drill team through a pre-planned sequence of loops, rolls, wildfireds, corkscrows changeovers and cloverleaf turns.

The Thunderbirds fly their entire show at low altitude and within one mile of the Airport. The audience can easily see every maneuver performed throughout the program while listening to the official narrator describing the performance. Local radio stations' broadcast of the program will include actual air-to-ground conversations of the pilots and ground crews.

proud of the fact that a large number of our employees are identified in some way with almost every worth-while community development project in our service area."

He further stated that Central Eastern Pennsylvania has a most promising future, as has all of America. However, the path ahead for all of us is not easy. We must have slum clearance, renewal programs, modern business districts with necessary adequate recreational areas and facilities and all the other attributes of a truly modern urban society. And we must do these things not during a pause for repairs, but while our whole physical, social and economic world continues to change around us at a rate unprecedented in history.

Jack K. Busby, PP&L president, and Frank C. Mueller, PP&L's vice president, Central division, spoke briefly at the seminar. Both PP&L executives thanked the attendants for their interest in improving the community in which they live.

In concluding the meeting, Busby said, "Everyone can help build the atmosphere which leads the visitor to feel that here is a place that people are looking up, friendly community. The atmosphere, forward not back—that here is a community which is really moving."

Emmet M. Molloy, PP&L's manager, area development, was the seminar chairman.

Flying their North American F-100 Super Sabres with their wing tips overlapping three feet and separated vertically by only a few inches, the Thunderbirds have been seen by audiences all over the free world. Adding zest to the performance are their colorful solo pilots, who time their double maneuvers between those of the four airplanes in the diamond formation, and the climax of the show is the famous "bomb burst" in which the planes climb vertically in front of the audience and then break away to the four points of the compass.

The planes fly at speeds up to 1200 miles per hour. The three day program at the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport, just north of the Airport Exit on the Lehigh Valley Thru-way, Route 22, begins at Noon on Friday with visitation by classes of school children of the area when the displays of aircraft including the F-101B Voodoo and the Atlas Missile and equipment of all branches of the Armed Services will be on display.

The exhibit area will be open at 10 a.m., Saturday, and the program for the day will include a parachute drop by the famed Sky Divers of the 82nd Airborne Division, U.S. Army; aerial flyovers by the 512th Troop Carrier Wing, U. S. Air Force; Pennsylvania Air National Guard, and a flying model jet aircraft show. Sunday's program which features the Thunderbirds, begins at 8 a.m. with religious services in the exhibit area.

Staff Gen. Richard M. Mont-Staff, U.S. Air Force will be the speaker at a military dinner and ball Saturday night. Lt. Col. Ray Wahl, USAF Reserves, Northampton, is Chairman of the Armed Forces Week Committee.
